CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.

2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.

3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:

   a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution’s supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.

   b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.

4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.

5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.

1. PURPOSE

The purpose of this TOR is to outline the scope and requirements that potential service providers must consider when submitting a proposal for the development of a national guideline for the preparation and review of EIAs for mining activities that require Environmental authorisation.

2. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

Environmental aspects of exploration, prospecting, mining, and production activities were previously excluded from the scope of National Environmental Management Act, 1998 (NEMA) and were regulated in terms of the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act, 2002 (MPRDA). These mining activities were also not listed activities that require an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) in terms of Section 24(1) of NEMA. Only associated activities, for example, the transformation of undeveloped land exceeding 20 hectares or roads etc. required an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA). However, as of December 2014, mining activities were listed as activities that require environmental impact assessment and authorization through the NEMA process.

The Department of Mineral Resources (DMR) who has never undertaken the review of mining activities through the NEMA process will now be the competent authority. As mining activities are newly listed; Department of Environmental Affairs (DEA) requires the development of a national guideline for the preparing and review of EIAs for mining activities, as it is essential that proponents and competent authorities are equipped with tools that will assist them in undertaking quality EIA’s and reviewing EIAs effectively respectively.

The guideline is intended to provide minimum requirements for Environmental Assessment Practitioners (EAPs) submitting environmental impacts assessments for mining as well as a review guideline and template for officials reviewing these applications. It is intended that these documents will identify key aspects and impacts to be considered and assessed as well as the environmental outcomes to be achieved.
3. OBJECTIVES

To ensure the protection of the environment and conservation of natural resources, balanced with sustainable development and the equitable distribution of the benefits derived from natural resources.

The objectives of the guideline are to-
- Encourage and facilitate the undertaking of more quality and comprehensive EIAs and the presentation of information in a structured manner in reports; and
- Assist competent authorities in adequately reviewing and evaluating information and reports submitted as part of the EIA process.

By guiding EAPs in undertaking comprehensive impact assessments and structuring information in a systematic manner, competent authority will be able to (process) applications more effectively and efficiently.

4. SCOPE AND EXTENT OF WORK

Part A of the Guideline:

4.1 This part of the guideline is intended to be used by EAPs and applicants and must-

4.1.1. Identify the potential impacts associated with the different mining activities and relevant studies to be undertaken;
4.1.2. Suggest mitigation measures for each potential impact identified while encouraging the principles of avoidance first, then remediation and finally mitigation;
4.1.3. Encourage EAPs not to just identify and describe features of the surrounding environment but must assist EAPs to also consider the environment and the natural, biophysical, social, historic and cultural values that exist in the area where the development is proposed;
4.1.4. Guide EAPs to consider all direct, indirect and cumulative effects of the development;
4.1.5. Assist EAPs in determining under which circumstances would specialist studies be needed and whether desktop studies or full study’s apply;
4.1.6. Help EAPs identify and understand the positive and adverse effects of the proposed development and help test the appropriateness of the proposal’s design; 4.1.7. Encourage the completeness and increased quality of the information and assessments conducted in an EIA;
4.1.8. Identify all the information that will be required for decision making during each stage of the EIA process i.e. when the client first approaches an EAP (before submitting the application) and what will be done during the application phase etc.

4.1.9. Demonstrate to EAPs how to analyse and consider results obtained from assessments;

4.1.10. Encourage EAPs to prepare EIA reports that are of an appropriate standard before it is subject to review by the Competent with the aim of avoiding delays in the EIA process or requests for additional information;

4.1.11. Suggest the most effective way of structuring the results of assessments in EIA Reports including the Environmental Management Programmes and suggest a standard format for EIA Reports and EMPRs. The standard formats of all reports must aim to-

- Enhance the quality and consistency of information submitted;
- Streamline the review process;
- Increase authorization efficiency;
- Standardize environmental impact management on site;
- Allow for the compilation of reports in a systematic manner.

4.1.12. Set out minimum specification methods for impact assessments and analysis that must serve as a tool that will enable EAPs to identify potential effects of the proposed activity and measures to avoid, remediate or mitigate adverse effects;

4.1.13. Demonstrate to EAPs how to analyse results obtained from assessments and present it in a structured and practical manner in EIA reports; and

4.1.14. Suggest ways in which alternative designs, locations, technologies and timing of activities are to be considered.

4.2 Part A of the guideline must also demonstrate, with examples, how the following aspects must be considered during the EIA-

4.2.1 How will this development (and its separate elements/aspects) impact on the ecological integrity of the area

4.2.2 How were the following ecological integrity considerations taken into account-

4.2.2.1 Threatened Ecosystems;
4.2.2.2 Sensitive, vulnerable, highly dynamic or stressed ecosystems, such as coastal shores; estuaries, wetlands, and similar systems require specific attention in management and planning procedures, especially where they are subject to significant human resource usage and development pressure;
4.2.2.4 Critical Biodiversity Areas (“CBAs”) and Ecological Support Areas (“ESAs”);
4.2.2.5 Conservation targets;
4.2.2.5 Ecological drivers of the ecosystem;
4.2.2.6 Environmental Management Framework;
4.2.2.7 Spatial Development Framework;
4.2.2.8 Global and international responsibilities relating to the environment (e.g. RAMSAR sites, Climate Change, etc.);
4.2.2.9 The strategic context of the project and the broader societal needs and the public interest should be considered. In an effort to better address these considerations and its associated cumulative impacts, the NEMA also provides for the compilation of information and maps that specify the attributes of the environment in particular geographical areas, including the sensitivity, extent, interrelationship and significance of such attributes which must be taken into account;
4.2.2.10 The “Need and desirability” of the project, the content of the Integrated development plans (IDPs), (Sectorial development Frameworks) SDFs, Environmental Management Frameworks) EMFs and other relevant plans, frameworks and strategies. Whether a proposed activity will be in line with or deviation from the plan, framework or strategy per se is not the issue, but rather the ecological, social and economic impacts that will result because of the alignment or deviation; and
4.2.2.11 The financial viability of the project within the context of justifiable economic development, measured against the broader societal short-term and long-term needs. While the financial viability considerations of the private developer might indicate if a development is “do-able”, the “need and desirability” will be determined by considering the broader community’s needs and interests as reflected in an IDP, SDF and EMF for the area, and as determined by the EIA.

4.3 Part B of the guideline, which is intended for use by the competent authority, must-

4.3.1 This part of the guideline must be drawn up for use by the Competent Authority (CA) must-
4.3.1.1 Be a minimum specification to assist the CA in determining whether all information/ documentation have been submitted. This will be a “checklist” for completeness, but will not form a major part of the guideline;
4.3.1.1.1 Determine if the information is sufficient for a final decision to be made and for conditions to be set;
4.3.1.2 Determine if the information submitted -
- Is correct and technically sound;
- Reflects the views and concerns of affected and interested parties;
- Is a true reflection of the statement of the key findings as complete and satisfactory, e.g. for significant impacts, proposed mitigation measures, etc;
- Is clearly presented and understandable by decision makers and the public.

4.3.1.3 Guide on how to identify issues that need specific consideration;
4.3.1.4 Guide on determining whether all relevant studies have been done and if impacts were methodically considered and mitigation measures suggested are relevant and effective;
4.3.1.5 Enable the competent authority to adequately consider the nature and effects of the proposed activity. This may be done by asking a series of significant questions to ensure that the assessment has been thorough, all major issues have been well-thought-out and all proposals on the acceptability if impacts is justifiable and mitigation measures are relevant;
4.3.1.6 Demonstrate how the CA should evaluate and consider the results obtained from assessments as well as whether the proposed mitigation and monitoring measures and alternatives are suitable;
4.3.1.7 Guide on how to take into consideration aspects such as the precautionary principle and Need and Desirability;
4.3.1.8 Guide on how to maintain objectivity when reviewing EIA’s and how to consider public comments;
4.3.1.9 Identify all methods for the efficient and effective review of EIAs;
4.3.1.10 Provide guidance on what content should exist in an Environmental Authorisation as well as standard conditions which will ensure that appropriate conditions are drawn up for specific mitigation measures;
4.3.1.11 Guide the CA on how to:
- weigh the benefits and costs of the project;
- consider negotiation, bargaining and trade-offs;
- balance economic, social and environmental factors;
- implement sustainability mandates and commitments;
- identify if the precautionary principle has been applied effectively.

5. EXPECTED DELIVERABLES / OUTCOMES

The following strategy has been devised for the team that is the subject of these terms of reference.

Initial: TOR drafted and finalized by DEA and BID Evaluation Committee to confirm the scope of the guideline and to identify any gaps that may exist that must be addressed.
5.1 Output 1: Inception Meeting and detailed workplan

The four main objectives of the Inception meeting are to:

- Define the project, its purpose, and expected goals and deliverables and timeframes;
- Introduce the project members and briefly discuss the roles of each;
- Present a model of how the team is going to work together; and
- Discuss the draft work plan and incept report (Identify possible bottle necks and key success factors).

A one day inception meeting is to be held with all members of the Project Steering Committee (PSC) which will comprise of 4 DEA members, 1 DMR member and the service provider.

Following this meeting, the draft inception report and work plan that was submitted as part of the proposal must be amended by the service provider as per the recommendations of the PSC. The inception report and work plan must identify all tasks, allocated staff, identify timeframes and ensure coordination. The inception report and work plan is to be approved by the Department.

Evidence: Minutes of the meeting, list of finalized project steering committee members, and finalized scope of project.

5.2. Output 2: Conducting a literature review

A literature review must be conducted on relevant DEA and DMR documents as well as international documents. Countries that undertake mining in a similar manner to South Africa must be researched. There should also be an investigation into what is currently done in the EMPR process through the MPRDA and the possible gaps that exist. The following must as a minimum must form part of the review:

Evidence: Part A

5.4. Output 4: Part B: Reviewing EIAs

Output 4 must be in line with section 4.3 of this TOR.

Evidence: Part B

5.5. Output 5: Draft guidelines

A draft guideline (Part A and B) must be available for internal comment (DMR/ DEA) after Output 4 has been completed. The guideline must be sent out for internal comment for a period of 14 days. After the commenting period, there must be a comments and response document drafted and submitted to DEA for consideration. The guideline must be amended in terms of DEA’s comments and then gazetted for public comment.

Once the guideline has been gazetted for comment, the service provider must compile a comments and response register must consider and incorporate all comments deemed relevant by the PSC. Once this has been complete, the final version of the guideline will be submitted by DEA to WG7 and MINTECH and MINMEC for approval for implementation.

Evidence: 2 draft guidelines and 2 comments and response registers.

5.6. General Output (On-going): Consultation

The guideline must be developed through a consultative process. A list of relevant stakeholders to be consulted must be identified upfront and the number of workshops to be held must be confirmed. Stakeholders and sectors may include: DEA officials, DMR officials, and Department of Water Affairs (DWA), heritage associations, NGOs, farming associations, heritage, birds, bats, biodiversity and invertebrates specialists.

It is for seen that there will be a total of 5 PSC meetings and one stakeholder workshop which will include a maximum of 15 external attendees.

Evidence: Minutes to the meetings and registers of attendance.

A person awarded a contract may not sub-contract more than 25% of the value of the contract to any other enterprise that does not have an equal or higher B-BBEE status level than the person concerned, unless the contract is sub-contracted to an EME that has the capability and ability to execute the sub-contract.
