CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.

2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.

3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
   a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution’s supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
   b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.

4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.

5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.

2. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

2.1 South Africa is rich with natural resources and is the third (3rd) most biologically diverse country in the world following Indonesia and Brazil. It covers about 2% of the world's land area, but is home to nearly 10% of the world’s plant; 7% of reptiles, birds & mammals; 15% of known coastal marine species. In addition, South Africa is endowed with high incidence of endemic species. Therefore, biodiversity is considered to be one of South Africa’s greatest assets.

2.2 South Africa is also rich in indigenous cultural diversity comprising various cultural groups. These cultural groups have discovered different traditional uses of plants and animals for agriculture, medicinal and healthcare, and food preparation purposes. This is called Traditional Knowledge and it is passed down from generation to generation, usually by word of mouth and through cultural rituals in specific communities.

2.3 The DEA embarked on the development of the National Biodiversity Economy Strategy targeting two (2) sectors, namely the wildlife and bio-prospecting/biotrade sectors. The overall aim of the strategy is to provide an implementation framework for a period of 14 years to achieve optimum economic benefits—direct, indirect and induced—from the commercialization of the rich South African biodiversity. The strategy will contribute to the reduction of poverty through the development and capitalization of natural resources available in poverty stricken areas in South Africa, thus incorporating marginalized communities into the mainline market economy. The strategy further supports inclusive economic opportunities through the harmonization and integration of modernized and subsistence rural economies.

2.4 Subsequently, the Department recently co-hosted with the Department of Tourism (DoT) a Biodiversity Delivery Lab which occurred from 11 April to 13 May 2016, primarily to develop an implementation plan for the NBES. The Biodiversity Economy Delivery Lab adopted the Malaysian Big Fast Results (BFR) Methodology, which is a similar approach adopted for the country’s Oceans Economy Phakisa. Basically, the Lab can be described as an intense problem solving environment within a dedicated physical workspace with a full time team working in iterative manner towards delivering exceptional results. Thus, the Lab methodology is useful in solving complex problems/issues, developing detailed implementation plans that can fast track delivery.

2.5 The DEA hosted two work streams in the Biodiversity Delivery Lab namely, Wildlife and Bioprospecting. Overall, the Lab aspirations were centred on transformation, sector sustainability and economic growth. In the process, the respective work streams were able to prioritise issues that would move the respective sectors forward within the next three years. Consequently, initiatives addressing each of the prioritized issues were developed and further unpacked in a “3-feet plan (a detailed, line by line implementation plan with assigned owners and timelines) consisting of the budget and legislative requirements to implement the identified initiatives. To this end, the Biodiversity Delivery Lab has been elevated to a Presidential Phakisa due to the recognised and appreciated potential of the biodiversity sector (in particular the wildlife and bioprospecting sector) to contribute to the economy of the country.

Outcomes of the Biodiversity Delivery Lab

2.6 The wildlife work stream identified fifteen key initiatives that could deliver a thriving and inclusive wildlife economy for the benefit of all South Africans. Specifically for transformation of the wildlife sector, without undervaluing the impact of the other identified initiatives, the following initiatives were key:

- The identification and prioritisation of 10 Million Hectares for transformation of wildlife economy;
- The establishment, developing and supporting new wildlife ranching entrants through infrastructure support and game donation programmes. Operationalisation of eleven Biodiversity Economy Nodes (BENs) in the nine provinces of South Africa;
- Formalising the South African game meat market and creating a network of 110 game meat processing facilities which are black-owned;
- Unlocking the potential of protected areas; and
- Capacitating organised community structures such as Communal Property Associations and Trusts.

2.7 The bioprospecting sector work stream was able to identify five (5) key initiatives for the sector which remain underdeveloped, unrecognised and untransformed, that is:

- Promote mass cultivation of 25 plant species of strategic importance and increase cultivation by 500 hectares per annum;
• Define management plans to ensure sustainable wild harvesting of 7 high value plant species to safeguard long term supply;
• Establish a coordinating and facilitating Bio Products Advancement Network for South Africa (BioPANZA) to harness existing initiatives and to address the innovation chasm;
• Fast track amendments of Chapter 6 of the National Environmental Management Biodiversity Act (NEM:BA) to ease compliance while ensuring protection of the rights and benefits of Traditional Knowledge (TK) holders and alignment with Nagoya Protocol on Access and Benefit Sharing; and
• Improve efficiencies in the Bioprospecting Access and Benefit Sharing (BABS) permitting system.

2.8 The biggest challenge facing the emerging game farmers, new beneficiaries of land reform program, rural community landholders indigenous and local communities involved in the harvesting/collection of indigenous biological and genetic resources, of indigenous and local communities holding traditional knowledge in South Africa is the lack of technical expertise, weak local institutions, market access and capital. While on the regulatory framework of the bioprospecting sector, the main challenge in the implementation of the National Environmental Management: Biodiversity Act, 2004 (Act No. 10 of 2004) (NEMBA) which is the primary legislative framework which governs bioprospecting, access and benefit sharing activities in South Africa. Chapter 6 of NEMBA, entitled: “Bioprospecting, Access and Benefit Sharing” is implemented through regulations made by the Minister of Environmental Affairs called the Regulations on Bioprospecting, Access and Benefit Sharing (BABS Regulations).

2.9 The BABS Amendment Regulations read together with NEMBA, provides that the Minister of Environmental Affairs is the issuing authority for export permit for discovery phase of bioprospecting; biotrade permit; bioprospecting permit and/or integrated biotrade and bioprospecting permit involving commercial or industrial utilization of indigenous genetic and biological resources and/or associated traditional knowledge. The Minister is also responsible to approve material transfer agreements and benefit sharing agreements submitted together with the permit application forms. Before approving the benefit sharing agreement, the Minister:

(a) must be satisfied that the agreement is fair and equitable to both parties;
(b) may consult any person competent to provide technical advice on the agreement; and
(c) may invite public comment on the agreement provided that no confidential information will be made public.

2.10 The BABS Regulations provides that if it has not been possible to conclude a benefit sharing agreement, the applicant must submit a request for intervention of the Minister for the purposes of facilitating the negotiations for the benefit sharing agreement. The main challenge in the implementation of NEMBA and the BABS Regulations is the lack of technical expertise within DEA and in the Bioprospecting Advisory Committee (BAC) to assist in determining whether the concluded benefit sharing agreements are fair and equitable for the indigenous and local communities involved, taking into consideration the market value-chain analysis of the project or business from the source to the end product.

2.11 To this end, a panel of experts is needed to assist the Department in the facilitating negotiations of new and existing benefit sharing agreements relating to biotrade and/or bioprospecting projects, development of pre-feasibility technical and commercial plans, commercial investment options, business plans, creating legal structures and benefit sharing agreements, securing private investors, community and local institutional facilitation for both the wildlife and bioprospecting sectors. Such services would ensure efficient and effective implementation of the Biodiversity Economy.
