If, after a Bidder's Response has been submitted, the Bidder becomes aware of an error in the Bidders Response (including an error in pricing, but excluding clerical errors which would have no bearing on the evaluation of the Bid), the Bidder must promptly notify the DBSA of such error.

23. RESPONSIBILITY FOR BIDDING COSTS

23.1 The Bidders participation or involvement in any stage of the Tendering Process is at the Bidders sole risk, cost and expense. The DBSA will not be held responsible for, or pay for, any expense or loss that may be incurred by Bidders in relation to the preparation or lodgement of their Bid.

TOTAL (Functional Evaluation)	100
--------------------------------------	------------

27.4.3 A minimum of 70 points out of a 100 for the functional/ evaluation will qualify the Bid to move on to the second stage of evaluation, which is price and preferential points evaluation. Bidders that do not score 70 points or higher at this stage of the evaluation will not be evaluated during the second stage of the evaluation.

27.5 Second Stage: Price and Preferential Points Assessment

27.5.1 Subsequent to the evaluation of Qualifying Criteria and functional criteria, the second stage of evaluation of the Bids will be in respect of price and preferential procurement only. Points will be allocated to Bidders at this stage of the evaluation in accordance with the PPPFA and the PPPFA Regulations, as follows:

Price points 80
 Preferential procurement points 20

27.5.2 Price points

The following formula will be used to calculate the points for price:

$$P_s = 80(1 - (P_t - P_{min}) / P_{min})$$

Where:

P_s = Points scored for comparative price of tender or offer under consideration;

P_t = Comparative price of tender or offer under consideration; and

P_{min} = Comparative price of lowest acceptable tender or offer.

27.5.3 Preferential procurement points

A maximum of 20 points may be awarded in respect of preferential procurement, which points must be awarded to a tenderer for attaining their B-BBEE Status Level in accordance with the table below:

B-BBEE Status Level	Number of Points
1	20
2	18
3	14
4	12
7	4
Non-compliant contributor	0

An unincorporated trust, consortium or joint venture will qualify for points for their B-BBEE status level as an unincorporated entity, provided that the entity submits their consolidated B-BBEE scorecard as if they were a group structure and that such a consolidated B-BBEE scorecard is prepared for every separate Bid.

27.5.4 Total

The total points scored by each Bidder will be calculated by adding the points scored for price (out of 80) to the points scored for preferential procurement (out of 20).

The successful Bidder will be the Bidder which has the highest total points (out of 100) for both price and preferential procurement (unless there is a basis for selecting a different successful Bidder in accordance with section 2(1)(f) of the PPPFA).

PART E

TERMS OF REFERENCE & PROJECT BRIEF

1. BACKGROUND

The Waste Water Treatment Plants (WWTP) aspect of the waste sector has a huge, but, as yet, under developed potential to generate sustainable energy from the main by-product created in the treatment of wastewater, i.e., sewage sludge. The term “sewage sludge” refers to residue materials removed from the WWTP designed to treat domestic wastewater and includes, but not limited to, the following: raw or primary sludge from a primary clarifier; anaerobically digested sludge; oxidation pond sludge; waste activated sludge; humus sludge; pasteurised sludge; lime-stabilised sludge; and composted sludge. This waste stream is an energy rich sustainable biomass resource with the potential to generate sustainable energy with a similar calorific value to woodchip. However, traditionally sewage sludge has been seen as a problem and a waste and existing processes and procedures are designed with this in mind, almost entirely focused on disposal. Sludge management also presents a potential hazard within the wastewater business of the WWTP and impacts directly on wastewater treatment processes that need to produce high quality effluent at the point of discharge.

Currently the most widely used method of sludge treatment is anaerobic digestion to allow the sludge to be recycled for further downstream use in agriculture. Anaerobic sludge digestion is used to convert organic matter in sewage sludge to produce biogas via the various stages of hydrolysis, acidogenesis, acetogenesis and methanogenesis and has the added benefit of reducing the dry mass and volume of sludge for disposal. As the process is aimed at further reducing pathogens within the sludge as well as reducing the volume of sludge little focus has been placed on optimizing extraction of the renewable energy generated from the digestion process. Energy recovered from biogas in the form of methane can be used as a fuel in a combined heat power (CHP) plant and hence reduce the usage of electricity generated from fossil fuels thereby lessening greenhouse gas deposits into environment. Furthermore, the improved operation of anaerobic digesters to maximise the biogas output also results in a better quality of sludge which may be used directly as a soil ameliorant or further mixed with fly ash and then used as a soil ameliorant. This can then be applied to the soils that currently lie dormant due to the infertility of the soil resulting from surface mining activities and intensive agricultural practices.

2. INTRODUCTION

As the WWTP is an energy intensive technology, it is fast becoming a high-cost item on municipal budgets amidst the rising electricity tariffs and vulnerable demand-supply dynamics in South Africa. Thus, one of the key drivers of the alternative source of energy; is the increased electricity tariffs by ESKOM, whereby electrical power costs will treble over the next 7 - 10 years, with 25% increases already incurred over past three (3) years. ESKOM has incentives in place for off-peak power use, and for green energy development. CHP represents a potential solution to reducing the costs incurred from electricity supply.

Anaerobic digestion is a well-recognised treatment process and is installed at many WWTPs throughout the country as a treatment process to stabilise the waste sludge. In some cases, the biogas that is generated from the process is collected in a gas holder and used to maintain the operating temperatures of the digester. More often, however, methane gas is simply discharged to the environment. As the biogas has no perceived value to the operating staff, process optimisation of the digesters is not generally practised, which also impacts on the quality of the final digestate and the acceptable disposal routes. However, once management understands the potential opportunities, sludge management can be easily optimised.

A high level assessment of the biogas potential of the local WWTP (GIZ, 2016) identified that there were 39 treatment plants with feasible CHP projects i.e. plants that will recover invested capital as well as operational and maintenance costs over the projected life cycle of fifteen (15) years, through savings made by utilizing CHP electricity produced on site at a lower cost. These are plants that have the required essential infrastructure to produce biogas. The potential savings that may be realised over the project lifespan through partial substitution of ESKOMs electricity through on site electricity generation (after repayment of initial capital as well as operating and maintenance cost range from R1 million to over R243 million depending on the capacity of the plant.

As the assessment was conducted at a high level, further detailed analysis of the biogas potential of WWTP in South Africa, is needed. This analysis must examine the feasibility of biogas to energy at municipal-owned WWTPs together with the potential for effluent recycling and/or use of the resulting sewage sludge as a soil ameliorant. The “Municipal Wastewater Treatment Plants Biogas to Combined Heat and Power Evaluation Tool” (may be used to evaluate the potential of the WWTP. Regarding the potential to use the sludge in land remediation, an assessment of the quality of the resulting sludge must be undertaken identifying any further treatment required to facilitate application to land as ameliorant.

3. OBJECTIVES

The objective of this study is to review the biogas to energy potential of WWTPs within a municipality as well as the potential for the further use of the resulting sludge in soil amelioration, either directly or after mixing with fly ash. The second objective of the study will be to review the potential for recycling of the resulting wastewater to potable water quality.

4. SCOPE OF WORK:

The following activities are expected under the proposed scope of work:

- a) Review of operations of the WWTP with potential to generate energy;
- b) Theoretical biogas to energy generation potential;
- c) Upgrades/modifications needed to increase the flow of biogas to maximize the energy potential;
- d) Review of the potential to utilise other organic feedstocks including the viability of collecting/sourcing additional organic waste from other sources within the municipality;
- e) Anticipated Return on Investment (RoI);
- f) Review of existing sludge management practices;
- g) Quality of resulting sludge;
- h) Review of the potential to utilise sludge as an ameliorant;
- i) Modifications needed to realize the potential of the sludge as an ameliorant;
- j) Potential areas where the sludge may be applied to land as an ameliorant;
- k) Review of the potential for recycling of the resulting wastewater to potable water quality;
- l) Review of existing legislative requirements applicable to the activities;
- m) Identification of potential project ownership scenarios in liaison with the municipality as the custodian of the WWTP;
- n) Identification and engagement with potential financiers for potential funding opportunities in the sector; with financial models being the realized output;

CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
 - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution’s supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
 - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
- 4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.
